Hi Jerry,

- The EPA's Guidance 34 (strangely, there is no date on this reproduction, but am sure it is around 1983 or so) is still valid as far as I know.

- If you have that Region IX document, then it is also good to refer. It was initially drafted in 1989 and eventually got finalized in March 1993.

- We also resolved the procedure how our agencies will interact in the last few years. We should discuss at your convenience.

thanks and Happy Thanksgiving,

George

Subject: Aquifer Exemption Guidance

Hello George and Michele,

I've been trying to find the latest (if there is any) guidance on how to apply for an AE. Can you please point me to the correct link in the EPA website, or if there is already a pdf available outlining the steps that needs to be done, this would be much appreciated. I have a 15 page document from Region 9 with the subject heading: EPA Region IX Aquifer Exemption Request Guidance. I'm not sure if this document is dated and if there is an update already. Thanks for any help.

I hope you all have a wonderful Thanksgiving holiday!

Jerry
